The other substances as defined and listed by ECHA on: <http://echa.europa.eu/candidate-list-table> as of 2025-01-21, The Candidate List, are not used as raw materials,² listed as components in used raw materials, or in any other indirect way knowingly involved in the manufacture of products sold by Polykemi Group. Neither are the chemicals formed during production by any intentional or otherwise known chemical reaction. The raw materials are not regularly analyzed for contaminations of the stated substances. However, no raw materials used in the manufacture of the aforementioned products are known to have a significant risk of containing these substances in levels above 0.1%, which would trigger the legal responsibility of communicating the content down the supply chain.

These assessments are made using the expertise of adequately trained staff, who monitor each update of The Candidate List.
